NATIONAL GRADUATE RESEARCH POLYMER CONFERENCE 2018

An opportunity for companies to interact with top students, postdocs, and professionals in the field of polymers.

The National Graduate Research Polymer Conference (NGRPC) strives to facilitate interaction between graduate students, post-docs, faculty, and industry representatives. The NGRPC, sponsored by the ACS Polymer Chemistry Division, will feature four plenary lectures from distinguished polymer scientists, presentations from graduate students and post-docs, and a job fair with industry representatives. We expect to host about 400 attendees from over 50 universities.

Industrial support and involvement is integral to the success of this conference.

We invite you to contribute to and participate in this experience. Sponsorship opportunities are detailed on the next page. Your help is greatly appreciated.

Registration will open in January 2018.
